

Academy of Forensic Medical Sciences Summer courses 2022

Diploma course in Forensic Human Identification

13 June - 22 July

£950

This is a six-week online course aiming to bring an understanding of the principles of various specialist areas and an awareness of the broad scope of the field.

Lecture topics: legal and human rights issues in identification, DNA analysis, ear- and fingerprints, forensic odontology, cranio-facial identification, handwriting analysis, voice recognition.

www.afms.org.uk/humanidentification

Diploma course in Management of the Dead

8 August - 2 September

£900

This is a four-week online course and aiming to provide knowledge of the main aspects related to the proper management of deceased persons in all circumstances and environments.

Lecture topics: legal aspects of managing the deceased, procedures for the recognition of life extinct and, custodial deaths, organ donation and transplantation, deaths in healthcare environments, indoor and outdoor deaths.

www.afms.org.uk/managementofthedeath

 All our courses offer participants to claim CPD points*

For more information please email info@afms.org.uk or visit www.afms.org.uk